CHEMICAL PRICING FORECAST

Know where chemical prices are heading before you buy

Monthly direction outlooks for petrochemicals, inorganics, formulated products and freight, translated into dollars on your own spend.

One outlook across what you buy and ship

Petrochemicals
Building blocks, aromatics, intermediates, plastics and resins

Inorganics & fertilizers
Caustic soda, sulfuric acid, nitrogen, phosphate and pigments

Formulated products
Resins, paints, surfactants and other blends

Transportation
Freight by mode, regional diesel and a hazmat view

An outlook that tells you how far to trust it

THIS MONTH
Solid
Firmed up by market data already observed

NEXT MONTH
Use with care
A directional forecast for planning

MONTH THREE
A scenario
Where today's conditions lead, not a forecast

Every view shows direction in plain words, the % change, and what the same purchase would cost on your planned spend.

Better-timed buys Costs in dollars Freight in view Ready to connect

What-ifs, timing and trust — continued overleaf

Ask "what if oil goes to..." and see the cost

You enter

A crude oil price, or a % move from today

Your planned spend

Optional world events such as weather, OPEC+ or plant outages

You get, by product family

Three-month % change and direction

What the same purchase would cost, and the extra in dollars

A buying suggestion and a chart, with events overlaid

Know when to commit, not just which way

Reliability today

How sure the direction call is now, and how it firms up over six weeks.

Best day to decide

When the outlook is strongest, tied to the market data release calendar.

Hedging suggestions

Practical steps, such as fixing about two-thirds early or splitting volume into thirds.

Market events in context

Detected for you from news, storm and government feeds, then reviewed.

Measured against precedent: shown only when past events of the same kind clearly moved prices.

Kept separate from the outlook figures, so you see the possible effect without distortion.

Accuracy in the open

Back-tested every month against what happened and a simple no-change guess.

Trust cards and direction hit rates sit beside every outlook.

API access on paid plans brings the latest forecasts into your own systems.
